Five Tips to Improve Your Computer's Performance

Delete unnecessary files

The downloads folder and documents folder often have files you don't need anymore.

Run updates!

Run the updates that you've been ignoring.

Disable auto-start for unnecessary programs.

You can usually do this in the settings for the program.

Turn off programs running in the background

You probably don't need to keep Zoom running all day.

Turn it off, turn it back on!

There's a reason every IT help desk asks you to do this. Do it. You might be surprised at how many problems it fixes.
